A man accused of killing his roommate near Cottondale in April has been indicted for murder by a Wise County grand jury.

Daniel Wayne Pack, 32, was indicted on the first degree felony charge of murder last Thursday, according to court records.

The indictment states Pack, “caused the death of ... Michael Wesley Bolling by cutting and stabbing (him) with a sharp object” and with intent to cause serious bodily injury to Bolling committed “an act clearly dangerous to human life, that caused the death of Bolling.”
